Leave Everlasting Hope...

Plant seeds of hope for a promising future

A Message from our CEO

Dr. Andrew Catford

Welcome, friend, to your first step in leaving everlasting hope...

You have already shown your care for the poorest and oppressed in our world through your support of INA and our important mission. Thank you for all you have done personally to help them reach their God-given potential. You have made a real impact.

Thank you for considering extending your extraordinary impact through a personal legacy pledge – I too have made a personal pledge in my own Will.

You can create a lasting legacy that continues this life changing support, that embodies your care and values.

Thank you for continuing to invest in the future of those who need it most. You are planting seeds of hope that will help transform the lives of those who need it most, well into the future.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Andrew Catford, CEO

When you leave a gift in your
Will through International Needs
Australia you make it possible for us to continue to provide vital assistance to countless women,
children, and communities at the edges.

Why Leave Everlasting Hope?

After you've provided for your loved ones, you can also make an impact on vulnerable people long after you're gone.

Your legacy means everything to marginalised women and children who wouldn't otherwise receive the help they need for a brighter tomorrow.

At INA, we ensure your gift is used for those who are in most need. It will support the continuation of our life-changing projects that address the key factors that enable women, children and whole communities to escape poverty – education, health and hygiene, livelihoods, gender equity, and climate change adaptation.

This means that the impact of your legacy will continue for generations to come. Your generous gift has the potential to continue and initiate new programs addressing critical needs within some of the most marginalised communities.

“We’re just so blessed compared to kids and communities in other countries. It’s the satisfaction that I’m able to do something to help somebody [and] you’re not only helping a child, but you’re also helping a whole community...”

– Gai Wood, INA supporter

Your legacy will...

Provide life-saving healthcare and essential resources to vulnerable women and children living in poverty.

Empower women and children by providing access to education, health services, and vocational and business training opportunities for a brighter future.

Improve key infrastructure and training to create lasting change for those on the edges, helping to break the cycle of poverty and build sustainable communities.

Continue the mission of INA to improve the lives of women and children, offering them hope and a chance for a better life into the future.

Join our Everlasting Hope Society

When you leave a gift in your Will through INA please let us know. This way you can be welcomed to the Everlasting Hope Society. In recognition, we write your name in our book of Ambassadors of Change. This book is on display in our office for all to see and for us to be reminded every day of the personal impact you make. You will also be presented with an official framed Everlasting Hope Certificate and a lapel pin, symbolising your legacy to those you serve and the hope it provides for their future.

“As CEO of INA and someone who has spent the last 30 years helping communities escape extreme poverty and reach their God-given potential, I know first-hand the huge impact a gift in Will can have on this sacred work. That is why it is an easy choice for me to include a gift in my will to help continue this life changing work well into the future.”

– Dr. Andrew Catford, INA CEO

“We are leaving a legacy to INA because we believe in their mission and the achievements they strive for in impoverished nations...

It brings us great joy and satisfaction to know that our contribution can make a profound difference in the lives of those in need. We can trust INA to manage the legacy we leave with them.”

– Jackie & Don, INA Supporters

Your Will

Having a legally valid and up-to-date Will is essential to protect your family's future and ensure your wishes are honoured.

Your Will serves as a powerful tool to direct your assets to the people and causes that matter most to you....to let you make a difference in the lives of those you love and those whose lives you can and want to change.

Without a Will, your legacy may be vulnerable and distributed in a manner contrary to your wishes. It is important to work with a solicitor to keep your Will up to date to reflect your wishes.

Regularly reviewing and updating your Will is advised, allowing for adjustments based on changes in your personal or financial circumstances.

By including a charitable gift in your Will that gives hope to the poor, you can make a significant impact on a cause you deeply care about. Your gift will hold immense importance as it serves as a lasting testament to your influence and care for the lives of others.

Types of Bequests

Residue bequest – whole

The simplest way to support our vital work and continue creating a lasting change for the poor and disadvantaged women and children at the edges of society. After providing for your loved ones, the residue (remainder) of your estate will be left to International Needs Australia for charitable work.

Residue bequest – percentage

After providing for your loved ones, a specified percentage of your estate will be left to International Needs Australia for charitable work to create lasting change for the poor and disadvantaged women and children.

Cash bequest

This option means you bequeath a specific amount to International Needs Australia for charitable work in support of the poor and disadvantaged women and children.

Specific bequest

If you wish to leave a specific item such as property, a vehicle (to be sold) or shares to International Needs Australia for charitable work in support of the poor and disadvantaged women and children.

You can specify what you care about and want to support: There are the following options:

Gift to go to wherever the need is greatest at the time (general purpose). This one is the easiest, as the needs of our projects change and are managed under the guidance of the INA Board of Directors.

Gift to either work in Africa, or work in South Asia, Southeast Asia, or the Pacific (specific countries can be difficult to manage, as different projects have varying financial needs at different times, but this is naturally your decision).

General topics: Women and Girls, Children, Health, Education, Skills, Livelihoods, etc. (You are not limited to only one of these.)

Suggested Wording

General wording for a legacy gift in your Will is similar to the following, although please follow the guidance of your lawyer / adviser.

“I/We give to INTERNATIONAL NEEDS AUSTRALIA (ABN 84 006 053 229), of 16 Corporate Boulevard, Bayswater, Victoria:

The whole/remainder of my/our estate not otherwise disposed of in my/our Will

[OR]

The _____% of the residue of my/our estate

[OR]

The sum of $ _____,

free from all duties and deductions.

I/We wish that this gift, free of all duties and deductions, will be applied towards International Needs Australia for its general purposes

[OR]

programs in the _____ region

[OR]

programs supporting _____ (women and girls/education/children/health etc).

I/We direct that the receipt of an authorised officer of INTERNATIONAL NEEDS AUSTRALIA (INA) will be sufficient discharge to my Executor.”
